Twenty-five percent of all money received from each forest reserve during any fiscal year is paid at the end thereof by the Secretary of the Treasury to the State or Territory in which the reserve is situated, to be expended as the State or Territorial legislature may prescribe for the benefit of the public schools and public roads of the county or counties in which the forest reserve is situated. When any forest reserve is in more than one State or Territory, or county, the distributive share to each from the proceeds of the reserve is proportional to its area therein (16 U. S. C. 500).

Parity Payments—

To enable the Secretary [of Agriculture] to make full parity payments [to producers of wheat, cotton, corn (in the commercial corn-producing area), rice, and tobacco pursuant to the provisions of section 303 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, there are hereby reappropriated the unobligated balances of the appropriations made under this head by the Department of Agriculture Appropriation Acts for the fiscal years 1941 and 1942, to remain available until June 30, 1945, and the Secretary is authorized and directed to make such additional commitments or incur such additional obligations as may be necessary in order to provide for full parity payments for the crop year 1942: Provided, That of the amounts hereby made available] for the crop year 1942 pursuant to the authorization under this head in the Department of Agriculture Appropriation Act, 1943, $193,623,000, to remain available until June 30, 1945, and to be merged with and made a part of the appropriation under this head in said Act, and the unobligated balance of appropriation so merged shall remain available until June 30, 1946, for administrative expenses (including expenses of county and local committees), and not to exceed $5,000,000 of said unobligated balance may be expended for administrative expenses in the District of Columbia (including personal services) and [in the several States (exclusive of] elsewhere (excluding expenses of county and local committees), including such part of the total expenses of making acreage allotments, establishing normal yields, checking performance, and related activities in connection with wheat, cotton, corn, rice, and tobacco under the authorized farm program as the Secretary finds necessary to supplement the amount provided [for] in section 392 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938], as.]

The second proviso contained under this head in the Department of Agriculture Appropriation Act, 1943, is amended to read as follows: “Provided further, That such payments with respect to any such commodity shall be made upon the normal yield of the farm acreage allotment established for the commodity under the 1942 agricultural conservation program and shall be made with respect to a farm in full amount only in the event that the acreage planted to the commodity for harvest on the farm in [1943 is] 1942 was not in excess of the farm acreage allotment established for the commodity under [the agricultural conservation] said program, and, if such allotment has been exceeded, the parity payment with respect to the commodity shall be reduced by not more than 10 per centum for each 1 per centum, or fraction thereof, by which the acreage planted to the commodity is in excess of such allotment.”

[The] To enable the Secretary to make parity payments to producers of wheat, cotton, corn (in the commercial corn-producing area), rice, and tobacco, pursuant to the provisions of section 303 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, he is authorized and directed to make such commitments or incur such obligations as may be necessary in order to provide for full parity payments for each of the crop years 1943 and 1944: Provided, That such payments with respect to any such commodity for the crop year 1943 shall be made upon the normal yield of the farm acreage allotment established for such commodity under the 1943 agricultural conservation program and for the crop year 1944 on the normal yield of the farm acreage allotment established for the commodity under the 1944 agricultural conservation program: Provided further, That for each of the crop years 1943 and 1944 such payments with respect to any such commodity shall be made with respect to a farm in full amount only in the event that the acreage planted to the commodity for harvest on the farm in 1943 or 1944, as the case may be, is not in excess of the farm acreage allotment established for such commodity under the agricultural conservation program, and, if such allotment has been exceeded, the parity payment with respect to the commodity shall be reduced by not more than 10 per centum for each 1 per centum, or fraction thereof, by which the acreage planted to the commodity is in excess of such allotment, and the Secretary may also provide by regulations for similar [deductions] reductions for the crop years 1943 and 1944, respectively, for planting in excess of the acreage allotment for the commodity on other farms or for planting in excess of the acreage allotment or limit for any other commodity for which allotments or limits are established under the agricultural conservation program on the same or any other farm.

[If] For payments on the 1943 crop, if the sum of the prevailing basic loan rate (if marketing quotas for the commodity have been disapproved, such basic loan rate shall be the basic loan rate which would have prevailed except for such disapproval) or the average farm price, whichever is the higher, for the crop year [1942] 1943 and the applicable rate of the payments under the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, for the purposes of the [1942] 1943 agricultural conservation [program] program, and the parity payments herein provided, exceed an amount sufficient to increase the farmers' returns to parity prices, parity payments shall be so adjusted as to provide a return to producers which is equal to but not greater than parity price; and for payments on the 1944 crop, if the sum of the prevailing basic loan rate (if marketing quotas for the commodity have been disapproved, such basic loan rate shall be the basic loan rate which would have prevailed except for such disapproval) or the average farm price, whichever is the higher, for the crop year 1944 and the applicable rate of the payments under the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, for the purposes of the 1944 agricultural conservation program, and the parity payments herein provided exceed an amount sufficient to increase the farmers' returns to parity prices, parity payments shall be so adjusted as to provide a return to producers which is equal to but not greater than parity price (56 Stat. 693).

Twenty-five percent of the net revenues received each calendar year from the use of lands held by the Secretary under Title III of the Farm Tenant Act, approved July 22, 1937 (7 U. S. C. 1000-1006), is paid to the counties in which the land is located. Such payments to counties are made on the condition that they are used for school or road purposes, or both. When any project is located in more than one county, the distributive share to each from the proceeds of the land is proportional to its area therein (7 U. S. C. 1000-1006).

LOANS, GRANTS, AND RURAL REHABILITATION

Loans, Grants, and Rural Rehabilitation, Department of Agriculture—

To enable the Secretary [of Agriculture] to continue to provide assistance through rural rehabilitation and grants to needy farmers in the United States, its Territories and possessions, including (1) farm debt adjustment service, and making and servicing of loans and grants under this and prior law; (2) loans; (3) grants; (4) the prosecution of Federal rural rehabilitation projects under the supervision of the Farm Security Administration on July 1, 1941; and (5) projects involving provision of water facilities; and (6) not exceeding $1,400,000 for operation and maintenance of existing migratory labor camps; $37,819,557, together with not to exceed $5,000,000 of the unobligated balance of the appropriation made under this head for the fiscal year 1942], including such facilities authorized by the Act of August 28, 1937, as amended (16 U. S. C. 590r-590x, 590z-5), $36,607,573, which sum shall be also available for necessary administrative expenses incident to the foregoing, including personal services in the District of Columbia and elsewhere; compensation of experts (including the Administrator and not to exceed three Assistant Administrators of the Farm Security Administration) without regard to the Classification Act of 1923, as amended; purchase of lawbooks, books of reference, periodicals, and newspapers; purchase, operation, and maintenance, and exchange at the seat of government and elsewhere, of motor-propelled passenger-carrying vehicles; and printing and binding.

In making any grant payments under this Act, the Secretary [of Agriculture] is authorized to require with respect to such payments the performance of work on useful public projects, Federal and non-Federal, including work on private or public land in furtherance of the conservation of natural resources, and the provisions of the Act of February 15, 1934 ([48 Stat. 351] 5 U. S. C. 796), as amended, relating to disability or death compensation, and benefits shall apply to those persons performing such work: Provided, That this section shall not apply to any case coming within the purview of the workmen's compensation law of any State, Territory, or possession, or in which the claimant has received or is entitled to receive similar benefits for injury or death.

For additional funds for the purpose of making rural rehabilitation loans to needy farmers, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is authorized and directed to make advances to the Secretary [of Agriculture] upon his request in an aggregate amount of not to exceed $97,500,000. Such advances shall be made: (1) With interest at the rate of 3 per centum per annum payable semiannually; (2) upon the security of obligations acceptable to the Corporation heretofore or hereafter acquired by the Secretary pursuant to law; (3) in amounts which shall not exceed 75 per centum of the then unpaid principal amount of the obligations securing such advances; and (4) upon such other terms and conditions, and with such maturities, as the Corporation may determine. The Secretary [of Agriculture] shall pay to the Corporation, currently as received by him, all moneys collected as payments of principal and interest on the loans made from the amounts so advanced or collected upon any obligations held by the Corporation as security for such advances, until such amounts are fully repaid. The amount of notes, debentures, bonds, or other such obligations which the Corporation is authorized and empowered to issue and to have outstanding at any one time under the provisions of law in force on the date this Act takes effect is hereby increased by an amount sufficient to carry out the provisions of this paragraph.

[No part of the appropriations contained in the Department of Agriculture Appropriation Act, 1943, under the heading "Loans, Grants, and Rural Rehabilitation," shall be available to pay the compensation of any person appointed in accordance with the civil-service laws] (56 Stat. 696-697).

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

The Department of Commerce comprises the Office of the Secretary, various loan agencies, Bureau of the Census, Office of Administrator of Civil Aeronautics, Civil Aeronautics Board, Coast and Geodetic Survey, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Patent Office, National Bureau of Standards, and Weather Bureau. Each of these units is discussed below.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY

The central administrative services of the Department of Commerce are under the control of the Office of the Secretary. Despite the curtailment of normal work programs in all bureaus as indicated by the decreased 1944 appropriations for this and other bureaus, the over-all activities of the Department will be expanded in 1944 due to special assignments for war agencies, financed by transferred funds.

LOAN AGENCIES (COMMERCE)

Pursuant to a recent Executive order, all functions, powers, and duties of the Federal Loan Agency and of the Federal Loan Administrator which relate to the Electric Home and Farm Authority, the Export-Import Bank of Washington, and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and its affiliates were transferred to the Department of Commerce, to be administered under the direction and supervision of the Secretary of Commerce.

The Electric Home and Farm Authority was terminated by a recent Executive order. Its assets are being liquidated by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and no appropriation is required for administrative expenses for the fiscal year 1944.

The Export-Import Bank of Washington, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and The RFC Mortgage Company are required to submit estimates of administrative expenses, payable from income of the corporations.

Outstanding loan balances of the Export-Import Bank of Washington now are over $175,000,000, and active commitments not yet disbursed are approximately $450,000,000. Most of the commitments are for the Latin-American countries, and are closely related to the war effort. The number of active loans is estimated to increase 33 percent in the fiscal year 1944 and an increase in new commitments of over 40 percent is contemplated. The increase in administrative expenses of approximately 19 percent ($48,600) is to service this increased activity.

The activities of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and its subsidiaries have increased greatly as a result of participation in the war effort; more than 75 percent of the authorizations made by R. F. C. in the fiscal year 1942, exclusive of those for subsidiary corporations, were so connected. The following subsidiary corporations created by R. F. C. are engaged exclusively in war activity: Defense Plant Corporation, Defense Supplies Corporation, Rubber Reserve Company, Metals Reserve Company, War Damage Corporation, and the U. S. Commercial Company.

Expenditures by the R. F. C. and its affiliates are estimated at 6.9 billion dollars in fiscal year 1943, and 7.4 billion dollars in fiscal year 1944 as compared with actual 1942 expenditures of 3.6 billion dollars. Receipts are estimated at 3.2 billion dollars in 1943, and 3.6 billion dollars in 1944 as compared with 1.1 billion dollars in 1942.

None of the R. F. C. subsidiary corporations, except The RFC Mortgage Company, is required to submit estimates to Congress for an appropriation; but they must submit estimates for administrative expenses for approval by the Director of the Bureau of the Budget. The decrease of $728,292 in the appropriation requested for administrative expenses of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and The RFC Mortgage Company for fiscal year 1944 results principally from a greater spread of overhead expenses to the R. F. C. subsidiary defense corporations.

BUREAU OF THE CENSUS

As a result of the Sixteenth Census, the Bureau of the Census has in its files the greatest mass of detailed information ever assembled concerning the characteristics and activities of the inhabitants of the Nation. Much of this information will soon be available at public libraries and universities. There will remain unpublished a large store of factual data normally useful to agencies of government and private groups during intercensal periods but now having added significance due to the unprecedented requirements of the various war agencies. Except for projects required by law, the funds appropriated to the Bureau for 1944, supplemented by transfers from war agencies, will be utilized in the performance of war assignments, such as surveys of manpower and specific studies in the broad economic fields of production, distribution, and consumption.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS ADMINISTRATION

In addition to the Office of the Administrator, the Civil Aeronautics Administration is organized in four principal divisions—the Federal Airways, Safety Regulation, Civilian Pilot Training, and the Airport Division. The Administrator is also charged with operation of the Washington National Airport.

Estimated 1944 appropriations of $22,903,000 for construction, maintenance, and operation of the Federal airways, and the development and improvement of technical aids during the fiscal year 1944 are subdivided as follows:

Appropriation	1944	1943	Difference
Establishment of air-navigation facilities....	$2,513,000	$10,533,375	-$8,020,375
Maintenance of air-navigation facilities.....	19,848,000	22,035,900	-2,187,900
Technical development.....	542,000	950,000	-408,000
Total .....	22,903,000	33,519,275	-10,616,275

In 1921 the Post Office Department began the installation of light beacons and emergency landing fields. Since then the system of airways has expanded until it now covers more than 35,000 miles in the United States, Alaska, and the Hawaiian Islands. The latest types of radio range beacons, fan markers, light beacons, and new instrument landing systems have been provided to increase the certainty, frequency, and safety of flying. The safety record has continued to improve; each year the number of fatal accidents per million miles has steadily decreased.

The growth of air commerce has required that the Civil Aeronautics Administration undertake the control of air traffic on the airways. Twenty-three airway traffic control centers now direct and regulate the movement of aircraft over the entire 35,000 miles of airways. Each plane is individually controlled and constantly under supervision. In the month of September 1942 there were over 1,000,000 plane movements, of which 80 percent were Army, Navy, and Coast Guard. This number probably will double during the next fiscal year.

The program of airport traffic control undertaken at the War Department's request before the declaration of war is to be financed in 1944 by the War Department. Thirty-nine control towers, located at various civil airports and requiring a crew of 9 men each, have been taken over for operation by the Civil Aeronautics Administration. It is expected this number of towers will increase to about 165 or 170. Because of the war the expansion of Federal airways in the United States has largely halted, the men and materials being used elsewhere.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration must examine and certify all airmen, pilots, mechanics, and other aeronautical personnel. It issues certificates of approval as to types of planes, motors, and instruments, and inspects their manufacture. Because of the war, strict regulation is maintained over aircraft, airmen, and airports. Altogether, some 15,000 examinations a month are given. Engineering and flight inspectors are now engaged on nearly 100 projects for the Army and Navy.

The Washington National Airport is now one of the three busiest airports in the United States. Moreover, it has become one of the most important civil airports to the Army. Although there has been a marked decrease in the volume of civilian air traffic, the growing use by the military more than counterbalances that trend.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

Although a part of the Department of Commerce, the Civil Aeronautics Board is an independent board so far as the establishment and supervision of economic and safety standards is concerned. The tremendous growth in commercial air traffic requires constant supervision in these fields.

COAST AND GEODETIC SURVEY

The activities of the Coast and Geodetic Survey will continue to be governed almost entirely by needs of the military services in the fiscal year 1944. Surveys of coastal areas, and observations of tides and currents, will be confined to areas of military significance. Facilities for offshore operations have been limited by transfer to the Navy of most of the Survey's large vessels and a substantial number of its commissioned personnel. In the fields of geodesy, terrestrial magnetism, and seismology, operations will likewise be directed toward the requirements of war. The savings from curtailment of normal operations will, however, be more than offset by increased costs of producing many more nautical and aeronautical charts required by the military services.

BUREAU OF FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC COMMERCE

Factual data concerning the world's commerce, accumulated over a period of three decades by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, have figured prominently in economic warfare. Moreover, the Bureau's industrial experts, commodity specialists, and other personnel trained in specialized phases of economics have made important contributions to agencies primarily concerned with governmental wartime controls. Appropriations for 1944 will, as heretofore, be supplemented by funds transferred from various war agencies.

Field offices of the Bureau, now located in the 12 headquarters cities of Federal Reserve districts and in 18 other cities, were originally established to facilitate the promotion of the country's commerce, both foreign and domestic. Because of wartime impediments to normal business, these field offices cannot perform their basic function, and the 1944 estimates contemplate their discontinuance.

PATENT OFFICE

The role of the Patent Office, an essential service agency, becomes increasingly significant in time of war with the attendant stimulation of inventive genius. By the collection of fees from applicants, the Patent Office is virtually self-sustaining.

NATIONAL BUREAU OF STANDARDS

Research and testing necessary for the development and procurement of modern war materials have taxed the facilities of the National Bureau of Standards to the limit. In the current fiscal year, total funds approximately equaling the Bureau's appropriations have been transferred to the Bureau by the Army, Navy, and other war agencies. In addition to research and testing, the Bureau is engaged continuously by day and night in the production at cost of special optical glass for the Navy. Estimates of appropriations for 1944 contemplate specific war assignments, financed by transferred funds, and the continued use of directly appropriated funds for basic research and testing as well as the establishment of commercial standards.

WEATHER BUREAU

During 1944 the Weather Bureau will increase the number of observations at high altitudes by 25 percent. Other economies will permit this to be done with an increase in appropriation for the Bureau of only $61,065.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

The Department of the Interior has the responsibility of advancing the domestic interests of the people of the United States. While the duties and specific charges of the Department have become many and varied, all have to do with promoting the domestic welfare, and conserving our natural resources. The emergency has made it necessary to curtail some of the normal activities of the Department and to expand others where there is a direct relation to the war effort. This is particularly true with respect to the Bureau of Mines and the Geological Survey.

The Budget estimates for the Department in general and special accounts, inclusive of items in the General Public Works Program, for the fiscal year 1944 show a reduction of approximately 60 percent under the appropriations for the current fiscal year. Appropriations for the fiscal year 1943 are in turn 28 percent below the appropriations made to the Department in 1942. This reduction is principally due to the suspension of public-works projects because of material and manpower shortages.

Civilian Conservation Corps.—The Budget estimates for 1944 include increases aggregating $730,715 resulting from the liquidation of the Civilian Conservation Corps. During the life of the Corps an amount in excess of $230,000,000 was made available for activities conducted on lands administered by the Department, and on programs directly supervised by departmental agencies.

The C. C. C. program made very substantial contributions in connection with road and trail construction and maintenance, fire prevention and suppression activities, and soil and moisture conservation programs. Many millions of dollars' worth of permanent improvements, facilities, and utilities were built by the C. C. C. Even during the present war emergency, the maintenance of these improvements cannot be entirely neglected without incurring excessive depreciation, nor can a residue of necessary administrative services be eliminated entirely. The estimates reflect the amounts required for necessary maintenance and services.

Public works.—The principal reduction in the 1944 estimates of the Department occurs in the General Public Works Program which, due to material and manpower shortages, has been practically suspended for the duration of the emergency. The 1943 appropriation of $111,333,360 for this purpose has been reduced to $3,555,000, an amount sufficient to complete urgent projects now under construction, and to provide for the continuation of surveys, plans, and designs for projects to be undertaken in the post-war period.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY

Appropriations under the heading of the Office of the Secretary cover not only his immediate staff and other aides responsible for the general administration of the Department, but provide for administrative functions common to the entire Department, and for the Division of Territories and Island Possessions, the Grazing Service, the Bituminous Coal Division, and the Petroleum Conservation Division, all of which are engaged in administering special functions.

The estimates for 1944 show a reduction under the appropriations for the current year because of the omission of estimates for the administrative expenses of the Bituminous Coal Division engaged in the enforcement of the Bituminous Coal Act which expires on April 26, 1943. The appropriation for this division for 1943 was $2,447,500.

For the other functions of the Secretary's office an increase of $171,715 is recommended, primarily because of the liquidation of the C. C. C. and the establishment of four new district headquarters necessary for the more efficient administration of approximately 140,000,000 acres of public land under the jurisdiction of the Grazing Service.

BONNEVILLE POWER ADMINISTRATION

The Bonneville Power Administration, created by the Bonneville Project Act of 1937, is responsible for the construction, operation, maintenance, and improvement of electric transmission lines, substations, and facilities, and other structures for transmitting and marketing electric energy available for sale from the Bonneville and Grand Coulee projects to existing and potential markets; for the interchange of electric energy, and for the interconnection of the Federal projects with other publicly owned systems now or hereafter constructed.

During the fiscal year 1943 the revenues of the Bonneville Power Administration from the sale of electric energy are estimated at $12,711,000, which will be derived from the sale of 5,500,000,000 kilowatt-hours of energy. During 1944 the estimated revenues are $17,000,000, which will be derived from the sale of approximately 8,000,000,000 kilowatt-hours. The greater portion of this energy will be consumed directly in war industries for the production of critical and essential war materials.

The present Bonneville transmission system consists of approximately 2,482 circuit miles of transmission lines ranging from 66,000 to 220,000 volts.

In order to conserve material, equipment, and manpower, the construction program has been restricted to that which is necessary to supply power to essential war-production industries. As a result of the curtailment of the construction activities, no additional construction funds are requested for the fiscal year 1944. For operation and maintenance of the electric system and appurtenant facilities, it is recommended that $3,287,000 be made available from funds previously appropriated for construction purposes.

GENERAL LAND OFFICE

This office supervises the survey, management, and disposition of approximately three quarters of a billion acres of public lands in the United States and Alaska and the minerals therein, and executes all laws relative to surveying, prospecting, locating, entering, reconveying, and patenting all public lands within national forests, grazing districts, and other reservations. Among its functions relative to the war effort are the withdrawal of public lands for military use, now aggregating more than 18,000,000 acres; the investigation of mineral lands with a view to their development and operation; and the provision of additional fire protection in areas of strategic importance under its jurisdiction.

The 1944 Budget contains a net reduction of $78,410 under the 1943 appropriations, notwithstanding the necessity for granting an increase for forest management on the revested Oregon and California Railroad and the reconveyed Coos Bay Wagon Road grant lands because of increased timber sales for military needs and to provide more adequate fire protection for these lands. The principal reduction is in the amount recommended for surveying the public lands.

BUREAU OF INDIAN AFFAIRS

This Bureau manages the affairs of approximately 380,000 Indians of the United States and natives of Alaska. It has been estimated that the value of all resources, property, and funds administered by the Indian Service aggregates approximately $1,000,000,000. Some of the more important responsibilities of this agency are:

The education of approximately 33,600 children in about 400 Indian Service schools and supervising the education of about 50,000 children in public and private schools;

The administration of approximately 46,000,000 acres of forest and grazing land valued at $130,000,000;

The administration of about 1,850,000 acres of farm land, including the teaching of proper agricultural and livestock raising methods and practices to some 36,000 families;

The operation of a credit system involving about $6,500,000 of Treasury and tribal funds;

The construction of irrigation systems and the operation and maintenance of existing systems valued at more than $57,000,000 serving about 850,000 acres of land;

The operation and maintenance of some 77 hospitals and the rendering of field nursing, dental and medical service for the benefit of the Indians;

The disbursement and the investment of more than $50,000,000 of individual trust funds and the accounting for $14,000,000 of tribal funds;

The maintenance of law and order on Indian reservations, and the performance of social service work, the placement of employables, and the care of unemployables; and

The construction of buildings and utilities and the maintenance and repair of existing facilities valued at approximately $300,000,000.

The total of the 1944 Budget estimates for the Indian Service, excluding trust funds and public works projects, is approximately the same as the total of the 1943 appropriations. Increases are included in the appropriations for salaries in the headquarters office, the administration of Indian forests, and the administration of Indian property for necessary operation and maintenance work principally because of the liquidation of the Civilian Conservation Corps. Increases are also shown for some of the education and health items in order to maintain these services on a satisfactory basis. The increases, however, have been offset by reductions in other programs which are not so essential at this time.

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION

The objectives of the Bureau of Reclamation concern the conservation of land and water resources; the transformation, through irrigation, of desert lands into productive farms; and the rehabilitation of inadequate water supplies to prevent retrogression to the desert of lands suffering from the shortage of water. Incidental to these major purposes are the facilities for the generation of hydroelectric power, drainage, flood control, improvement of navigation, silt control, stream regulation, municipal water supplies, and the creation of recreation facilities and wildlife refuges. The responsibilities of the Bureau include the planning, construction, and operation of such multipurpose projects. The activities of the Bureau are confined to the Western States.

The scope of activities of the Bureau has been extended from year to year so that by 1942, it had placed in operation irrigation works serving 4,272,000 acres of land with full or supplemental water. In addition, the Bureau will have in operation by the end of 1942 a total of 1,620,462 kilowatts of hydroelectric power located in 11 States and in 28 plants.

The Bureau of Reclamation is giving special emphasis to all its activities that will contribute to the support of the total war effort, and to that end it is speeding up the installation of power equipment to meet deficiencies of electric energy in the western areas. The Bureau is also devoting special attention to projects which will provide needed water for industrial, domestic, and war purposes. The irrigation features are undergoing constant reappraisal in order to provide adequate production of food, feed, and fiber for war. At the same time economic and engineering investigations of numerous projects are being concluded in order to provide an adequate number of desirable projects to cushion post-war repercussions with homes and opportunities for a livelihood in rural districts.

The present construction program of the Bureau is being confined to those projects which are immediately necessary and essential to the war program. As a result of the curtailment of these construction activities, the amount recommended for 1944 is $4,348,700, a reduction of $84,967,570 below the appropriations for 1943.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY

The estimates for the Geological Survey propose to continue its activities on a war basis. The Survey's regular work is associated with the geologic investigation of mineral resources, but since 1940 the Survey has carried on a specially authorized search for strategic and critical minerals. As regular sources of supply have been cut off, the Survey's explorations for critical minerals have been intensified and as the demand for all minerals has increased, its efforts have been directed toward finding new domestic sources of all war minerals, including iron, copper, lead, and zinc. Among the new deposits now in production as a result of the Survey's work are the largest chromite and tungsten operations in the country.

The Survey's work in connection with the country's water resources is proving of value in the present situation. In 1942 the Survey made 1,700 groundwater surveys for the Army, Navy, the War Production Board, and other war agencies in connection with the location and operation of cantonments, depots, and war plants. In addition, the Survey is continuing the operation of 4,200 stream gaging stations, most of which are financed in cooperation with States.

The topographic mapping program will continue the task of mapping the United States, 47 percent of which is completed. In 1942 topographic mapping was carried on in 38 States. The land classification work of the Survey has assumed added importance as the whereabouts, worth, and accessibility of minerals has become more important. The supervisory activities over mining and drilling operations on public, Indian, and naval petroleum reserve lands is of continuing importance as these activities increase during the war.

BUREAU OF MINES

The Bureau of Mines is engaged in conducting inquiries and scientific and technologic investigations concerning mining, and the preparation, treatment, and utilization of mineral substances with a view to improving health conditions, increasing safety, efficiency, economic development, and conserving resources through the prevention of waste in the mining, quarrying, metallurgical, and other mineral industries; investigating mineral fuels and unfinished mineral products, with a view to their most efficient mining, preparation, treatment, and use.

During the past 2 years the Bureau's regular work has been oriented to the needs of the emergency by expansion and change of emphasis in selected activities that promise the most immediate and valuable results. The investigation of the deposits and processing of strategic and critical minerals and the production of helium for war use constitute the major part of the Bureau's program.

Because of comparatively large appropriations in the fiscal year 1943 for war activities of the Bureau, some of which are continued available in the fiscal year 1944, estimates recommended for 1944 show a reduction of 62 per cent. The principal items of reduction are the special appropriation in 1943 for increasing helium production and other special projects of a nonrecurring nature.

NATIONAL PARK SERVICE

The National Park Service, created by the act of August 25, 1916, is charged with the administration of 166 units, including 26 national parks, 4 national historical parks, 84 national monuments, 11 national military parks, 7 national battlefield sites, 12 national cemeteries, 1 national recreational area, 8 national historic sites, 9 miscellaneous memorials, the Blue Ridge, Natchez Trace, and George Washington Memorial Parkways, and the National Capital Parks.

The national parks comprise about 22,000,000 acres which have been developed for public use and are conservatively valued, together with improvements, at three quarters of a billion dollars. These areas have been set aside for the enjoyment and inspiration of the people. The attendance for the travel year 1941, the highest on record, totaled 21,050,426 visitors. During the last travel year 887,008 members of the armed forces visited areas under the jurisdiction of this Service. The revenues received by the National Park Service for each of the travel years 1941 and 1942 ran well over $2,000,000.

All public works, for which more than a half million dollars were provided in 1943, have been eliminated from the 1944 estimates. Funds for many seasonal employees, usually hired during the travel season, have likewise been eliminated, and the amounts for the purchase of equipment and supplies have been sharply reduced.

The abolishment of the C. C. C. and the suspension of public works make it necessary to provide for administrative and technical personnel performing regular functions in the Service heretofore paid from emergency or public works funds. To provide for a nucleus engineering staff and other personnel necessary for the proper administration of the National Park Service an increase of $104,600 in the appropriation for salaries in the headquarters office and $183,890 in the appropriation for the four regional offices, is recommended. Notwithstanding these and other increases considered necessary, there is a net reduction of $53,020 in the general operating funds of this Service.

FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE

The work of the Fish and Wildlife Service is primarily concerned with conservation and development of these two sources of food. As a correlative activity, the Service carries out a program for the control of predatory animals and injurious rodents destructive to the production of food crops and domestic animals. The Service enforces Federal fish and game laws; makes technological, economic, and statistical investigations of the fishery industry; maintains 14 big game and 254 other wildlife refuges; operates 130 fish hatcheries; and part of the Service's personnel serves the Office of Fisheries Coordinator.

The two largest appropriations, "Migratory bird conservation fund" and "Federal aid, wildlife restoration," are appropriations made from the receipts of special taxes for these purposes.

While the services contemplated in this estimate for 1944 are substantially the same as those carried out this year, adjustments in the program of the Fish and Wildlife Service to meet war conditions have resulted in an estimate $159,205 below the 1943 appropriations.

TERRITORIES AND ISLAND POSSESSIONS

The estimates for the Territory of Alaska in 1944 provide for the expenses of the Governor and his office; for the care and custody of Alaskan insane; and for the Federal share of the construction and maintenance of roads, bridges, and trails. Increased costs for maintaining 2,445 miles of road and tramroad, 1,400 miles of sled road, and 6,400 miles of trails and increased expense of caring for the insane are reflected in larger estimates of appropriation, although the total estimates for the Territory of Alaska show a decrease owing to the completion of the Palmer-Richardson Highway.

The estimates for the Territory of Hawaii provide for the expenses of the Governor and his office on the same level as during the present year.

The estimates for the Government of the Virgin Islands provide for the expenses of the central government and for the operation of the agricultural experiment station. Revenues of the municipality of St. Croix are being adversely affected by the war. The estimate for defraying the deficit of the municipality is necessary to help maintain municipal institutions at a minimum level. Increases in the other appropriations for the Government of the Virgin Islands are largely for the adjustment of salary schedules.

Estimates for legislative expenses for the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii are omitted for 1944, since these are biennial appropriations, and the item for administrative expenses in connection with the Equatorial and South Sea Islands has been eliminated for the present.
